Inspired Color Description:

I've been using colors combined to create the equivalent of "Tonal Yellow" ever since I've been a serious figure painter. I highly value the power of direct observation as a source for inspiration. While looking at my subjects, I often try to key in on the core colors. There are plenty of red pigments designed for base portrait colors, but I've found that yellow is also a very common base skin tone. Tonal Yellow is meant to act as a pleasing, warm skin tone which functions well as a vibrant neutral.
