Inspired Color Description:

This is a color that I have been using a lot in my paintings. It is great to represent the sky. The real sky is not a bright blue, it has some gray in it, and sometimes other beautiful tones. I have added a greenish tone to incorporate the color of nature in it, such as the green from the grass. So the final result is a kind of subtle, delicate grayish blue-green. I have also used it for eye color and wall color.
